Welcome to our SEND Information Report. This document details how we support children with Special Needs and Disabilities (SEND) at Ainsdale St John's.

Introduction

At Ainsdale St John's we meet the needs of the children through Quality First Teaching. We aim to ensure that every child with SEND gets the support they need to make progress and take an active part in school life. All children have access to a broad and balanced curriculum and high expectations are set for all pupils, relevant to their prior attainment. Potential areas for difficulty are identified and addressed as soon as possible. Lessons take account of possible areas of difficulty so that any barriers to achievement can be overcome, if possible through good quality inclusive teaching.

1. What types of SEN do we provide for?

We consider our school to be a fully inclusive community and aim to fully comply with the requirements outlined in the Special Needs Code of Practice.

We cater for the needs of learners who may have difficulties with:

- Cognition and Learning
- Communication and Interaction
- Social, Emotional and Mental Health
- Sensory and /or Physical needs

2. How do we identify and assess children with SEND?

Early identification of pupils with SEND is important in overcoming barriers to learning. Parents are encouraged to speak to the class teacher and SENCO about any concerns they have regarding their child's needs.

The identification of SEND is built into the overall approach to monitoring the progress and development of all pupils. A pupil has SEND when, in order for them to make progress, they require additional or different support to the school's quality first teaching approaches. A child identified as having SEND may have difficulties in their development in one or more of the four areas of SEND outlined above from The Code of Practice and be significantly lower than their peers in 1 or more of these areas.

As a school, we track children's progress from Reception to Year 6 using a range of formative and summative assessments including observations and NFER tests. Children who are not progressing with the rest of their cohort are identified during pupil progress meetings which are held each term with the Head Teacher and individual class teachers to review and celebrate progress, and identify underachieving children/next steps. Class teachers continually assess all children's learning against national expectations and age-related expectations. Progress is tracked and information regarding where children have progressed (and where they have not) is recorded. This informs whether extra support is required.

The first response to such progress is high quality targeted teaching by the class teacher. Where progress continues to be less than expected the class teacher will discuss their concerns with the SENDCO. Adult observations and parent/children discussions also feed into building a profile. This leads to a growing understanding of the pupil's needs and what supports the pupil in making good progress and securing good outcomes.

If the support required is different from or additional to what is ordinarily offered by the school, the child will normally be placed on the SEND register. The school will then seek to remove barriers to learning and put effective special educational provision in place.

Provision is planned and delivered by all teaching staff. Where appropriate, teachers will seek support from teaching assistants, SENDCO and specialist teachers/agencies then use this advice to implement interventions which are reviewed by teaching staff (then passed on to the SENDCO) on a half-termly basis to ensure they are allowing children with SEND to make progress.

All pupils' progress is monitored and tracked. This happens through the use of observations, formative and summative assessments, personalised support plans and regular review meetings with parents/carers. This information is then used to identify whether further support is needed from the SENDCO and then outside agencies. In exceptional cases, children may receive an individual Education, Health and Care Plan.

These actions form part of a cycle through which earlier decisions and actions are revisited, refined and revised with the growing understanding of the pupil's needs and of what supports the pupil in making good progress. The SEND Code of Practice states that this process is known as the 'graduated approach'.

The four actions are:

1. Assess: the class teacher and SENCO will clearly analyse a pupil's needs before identifying a child as needing SEN support

2. Plan: parents will be notified wherever it is decided that a pupil is to be provided with SEN support

3. Do: the class teacher will remain responsible for working with the child on a daily basis. Where the interventions involve group or 1-1 teaching away from the main teacher, he/she will still retain responsibility for the pupil

4. Review: the effectiveness of the support will be reviewed in line with the agreed date

This cycle of graduated approach underpins ALL our provision in school.

All of our pupils' needs are considered on an individual basis and, following professional advice, additional support, equipment and staff may be deployed. Our staff members have a wide range of skills that they bring to our teaching team. All staff members use these skills to support the identification of pupils with SEND. Information from a variety of outside LEA agencies and health services is also used to identify/support children with SEND. As a school, we have actively sought advice from the following: Sefton's Educational Psychology Service, Sefton's Special Education Needs Inclusion Service (SENIS), Sefton's Social Communication team, Pupil Referral Unit, School Nurse, Specialist nurse, Community Paediatrics, Children and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS), Occupational Therapy Service and Speech and Language Service.

3a) What is the school's approach to teaching children with SEND?

High quality first teaching and additional interventions are defined through our regular dialogue across the school contributing to our provision management approach. This helps us to regularly review and record what we offer EVERY child or young person in our care and what we offer additionally. These discussions also serve to embed our high expectations among staff about quality first teaching and the application of a differentiated and personalised approach to teaching and learning. We make it a point to discuss aspirations with ALL our learners.

What adaptations are made to the curriculum and the learning environment of pupils with SEND?

- Small group support in class to scaffold and support access to the curriculum
- Individual daily reading with teaching assistant/class teacher
- Withdrawal into small focused groups for intervention programmes aimed at developing reading/writing skills/mathematic skills
- Delivery of planned Occupational Therapy and Speech and Language Therapy programmes by skilled teaching assistants including related specialist resources
- Use of specialist English and Maths resources in class and for withdrawal with targeted groups of children
- Specialist computing equipment and software to support Maths, English and Foundation subjects

What support is available for improving the social, emotional and mental health of pupils with SEND?

- Confident Me Programme for KS2 and Mini Confident Me Programme for KS1
- Relax Kids sessions offered through The Children's Centre
- Child counselling sessions
- Fortnightly lunchtime sessions for Young Carers through the Charity Rise. The charity have also provided opportunities for young carers to take part in day trips.
- Withdrawal by a teaching assistant/teaching assistant for 1:1 support to support children with social and communication needs such as social stories and programmes such as Zones of Regulation, Time to Talk, Socially Speaking, Lego Therapy and Socially Talented.
- Specialist teachers to deliver weekly PE lessons

- Use of specialist sensory equipment for each class
- Staff have received mindfulness and meditation training in the form of Relax Kids and Yoga.

3 b) What is the school's approach to teaching children with SEND

How is the effectiveness of SEND provision evaluated?

At Ainsdale St John's C.E Primary School Quality First Teaching is used by teachers to plan and deliver lessons that meets the needs of all learners in their class. Teachers work closely with each child with SEND in their class - ensuring that progress is being made. The SENDCO monitors this Quality First Approach through ongoing class observations throughout the year using Quality First Checklists.

- Teachers support the planning and delivery of interventions.
- Teachers regularly collaborate with their teaching assistants in order to assess the effectiveness of interventions that are in place. The SENDCO monitors this on a half termly basis through scrutiny of intervention monitoring forms and assessment materials such as Progression Steps, BSquared and AET assessment tools.
- Progress review meetings are held in the Autumn and Spring term by the teachers for parents/carers about the provision for their child.
- Termly review meetings are held by the SENDCO with parents/carers through sharing the child's progress towards their SMART targets in their personalised support plans.
- The class teacher and SENDCO ensures that all classroom staff members are aware of provisions in place for children's individual needs and are following the school's SEND policy.

SENDCO Governor: Mr Martyn Maguire

5. What training do staff receive in relation to children with SEND?

Mrs Sarah Myers achieved the qualification needed for Special Educational Needs Co-ordinator in July 2019.

All class teachers at Ainsdale St John's Primary School have gained a teaching qualification at degree level.

Our teaching assistants are committed to continuing their professional development by attending staff development sessions and workshops relating to the needs of the children they support. The amount of training and input from outside agencies can differ through the year depending on the needs of pupils.

During this academic year 2020/21, relevant staff have been involved in training in the following areas:

- Working Together Safeguarding children online course
- Epilepsy Training
- G and M Murphy Learning SEND digital cluster meetings
- SENIS digital Cluster meetings for SENDCOS.
- Social Communication Team digital cluster meetings.
- Early Reading Fluency Training
- Graduated Response and new EHCP roll out
- SEND virtual SEND transition meeting
- 'Confident Me' digital Training

6. How and what resources are used to support children with SEND?

When a pupil has been identified with SEND, their work will be differentiated by their class teacher to enable them to access the curriculum more easily. Teaching assistants will be allocated to work with a pupil on a 1:1 basis or with a small group. Children will be given a Personalised Support Plan with SMART targets. Personalised Support Plans are written by a child's class teacher in great detail relating to the child's background, their needs, current attainment levels and SMART targets. Personalised Support Plans will be supported and monitored by the SENDCO and may include relevant information from outside agencies. These are used to inform the planning and delivery of whole class and small group lessons (including interventions).

Each child's Personalised Support Plan will be reviewed termly, and new SMART targets will be set. This will be monitored by class teachers and SENDCO and will be shared with parents/carers in end of term review meetings.

For pupils with a medical condition, an Individual Health Care Plan (IHCP) may be written with SENDCO and parents/carers to guide staff on how to manage certain needs. Some children, with more complex needs, may have external agencies present to meet about their IHCP. If additional equipment is needed to support a child within school, this would be addressed at these meetings. If a child's needs go beyond the school's expertise, advice will be sought from Sefton's Special Education Needs Inclusion Service (SENIS). This may include an application for additional funding through a costed Educational, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) which is reviewed annually.

If a pupil obtains additional funding, they will continue to be educated at Ainsdale St John's C.E Primary School. If an EHCP is given, Sefton would look at their facilities within the borough and decide on the most appropriate school to support the child – this may be at Ainsdale St John's or at a specialist school.

7. What are the arrangements for consulting parents of children with SEND and involving such parents in the education of their child?

As a school, we offer regular opportunities for parents to come into school. These include:

- EYFS and KS1 Workshops
- Class Service Celebrations
- Autumn and Spring written progress reports
- End of year reports
- Autumn and Spring Parents' Evenings
- Weekly whole school worships at St John's Church
- Monthly drop in sessions for parents to meet the school nurse Katie McDade
- The school and Early Help supports families through formal and informal processes such as providing a Team Around the Family (TAF) and Child In Need Meetings (CIN)
- A family meeting room with kitchen facilities (called the Rainbow Room) is available to host many of the above events and meetings. Digital meetings have been arranged during the past year to ensure that the 'Team around the family' have continued to offer support.

8. What arrangements are made for consulting children with SEND and involving them in their education?

Pupils with SEND are asked to provide pupil voice in order to comment on their Personalised Support Plan and provide information for Educational Health Care Plans. This provides staff with further information on how best to support children with SEND and gives opportunities for both staff and children to discuss their opinions of how they view school life, their learning and different interventions. All children are listened to and staff endeavour to respond to their needs. The SENDCO provides a format for Pupil Voice to take place but this is differentiated according to the children's individual needs. Children are encouraged to participate in the annual Youth Participation Day held at the Lakeside Activity Centre. This year's conference couldn't take part due to COVID restrictions.

9. What arrangements are made by the governing body relating to the treatment of complaints from parents of pupils with SEND concerning the provision made at the school?

Should you need to make a complaint about your child's provision, contact the SENDCO via the school office.

Telephone: 01704 578 427

Email: deputyhead@ainsdalestjohns.sefton.org.uk.

If the complaint is about the SENDCO, you can contact the Head Teacher or governing body.

10. How does the governing body involve other bodies, including health and social services bodies, local authority support services and voluntary organisations, in meeting the needs of pupils with SEND and supporting the families of such pupils?

The relevant referrals are made through the SENDCO and School Nurse

11. What are the contact details of support services for the parents of pupils with SEND?

Sefton has a range of support services that work with early years' settings and schools to help children or young people with special educational needs or disability to develop, be included and make good progress across the academic, social and emotional aspects of their life. All the services can be found using the following link:

12. What are the school's arrangements for supporting pupils with SEND in a transfer between phases of education?

New Reception Children:

Before children start in Reception, the class teacher sets up meetings/calls with nursery settings to discuss the needs of individual pupils. In addition to this, the class teacher and teaching assistant make contact with parents/carers to build a profile of a child's needs. If a child is entering the school with complex needs, relevant training and risk assessments will be carried out in liaison with health professionals and Inclusion consultants from Sefton's SENIS team. The SENDCO facilitates enhanced transition meetings for parents of children with additional needs and extra visits to school are provided for children with SEND as part of this transition process.

Transitioning Through Key Stages:

At Ainsdale St John's Primary School, we recognise that transition and change can be an extremely anxious time for some children and their parents/carers. To support children to make that transition as smooth as possible, current class teachers and teaching assistants meet with future class teachers and the SENDCO to discuss the individual needs of a child. At the end of a school year, enhanced transition booklets are provided for children on the

SEND Register and also children who may have additional needs such as anxiety or social communication needs. The booklets contain photographs of the child's new teacher, teaching assistant and useful information for their new class. Small group transition visits were planned for children with additional needs to visit their new class.

Transitioning to Secondary School or a New Setting:

When a child transitions to a new setting, all relevant information is passed over. If a child has complex needs, this could involve a meeting with the new setting, parents/carers or external agencies. As a school, we have strong links with feeder high schools and specialist settings. This allows us to set up meetings to discuss certain children who we feel may need additional support when they start secondary education. Children with SEND are usually given the opportunity to attend extra enhanced transition visits to their secondary schools. Further opportunities are normally provided during the summer months for children with social communication needs to attend the 'Moving on Up' group. This is jointly run by Kath Dutton, Complex Needs and ASD Lead from Sefton Inclusion Service (SENIS) and members of Together Trust. During the year 2020/21, not all of the enhanced transition visits were able to take place due to COVID restrictions but the children who couldn't attend were supported by completing secondary school transition booklets. The SENDCO completed enhanced transition forms for pupils with SEND and these were sent to the secondary schools. The SENDCO also contacted the secondary school SENDCOs through digital online virtual platforms in order to provide a detailed picture as possible of the child's needs.

13. Where is the local authority's local offer published?

The Local Offer provides clear and accessible information about the provision Sefton Council expects to be available locally for our children and young people from 0 to 25 who have special educational needs and/or disability (SEND)
